

Note: The customer, sales and transaction (order line or order header) are assumed entities which are external to the HPS product and are essential in providing the linkage between various features for various insights.

Note: The data catalog can be externalized (for example using Collibra or datahub) as well as created as a framework and be automated to capture all the metadata about jobs, objects and their refresh cadences etc.